Jan. 28, 1957.

To the Editor of the Pine Cone:
I wonder whether any of your readers can supply me with the first lines of a limerick. It contains the comments of a man about his own face—a face which the rest of the world found little to its liking. The last three lines run:

You see I don't mind it,
Because I'm behind it.
It's the people in front that I jar.

Last Saturday, as I walked along the Carmel River beach, I was horrified to see a new television antenna rising over the Point—the first one, so far the only one, but perhaps a forerunner of more to come.

The Point is not within the village, so the prohibition of antenna does not apply here. The man who erected this one is breaking no law. But the residents of Carmel who look down on this ugly excrescence will not be consoled because the eyesore is legal.

Perhaps the owner, sitting on his front terrace, with an unobstructed view of the water, does not realize the jarring note he has introduced into other landscapes. Perhaps after he has considered his antenna from other viewpoints, he will order it removed.

Should it remain, a permanent scar on the face of heaven, the limerick might be amended to read:

You see I adore it,
Because I'm before it,
It's the people behind that I jar.

Your sincerely,
Margaret E. Moody.

Bookkeeper,
The Carmel Pine Cone,
Madam:

I am enclosing my check for $1.50, the balance due you for my six months' subscription. I am enjoying the issues of the Pine Cone and am looking forward to the next. I particularly enjoy interviews with localities, such as the one with the lumber man. I suppose you also have interviews with artists, writers and musicians, too, from time to time.

Just a comment on something which is as yet none of my business, I suppose. But I hate to see a Planning Commission squeeze the personality and charm out of Carmel. We have two such well-meaning august bodies supervising building in so-called "exclusive" Palos Verdes, a Homes Association which is practically self-perpetuating, and an Art Jury, selected by the aforementioned. It does keep tract builders out, I will say, which is an advantage not to be scorned, as anyone this near L.A. will attest, but the overall effect is rather stuffy and sterile, stifling originality. That and the overcrowded school problem are two of the reasons I plan to move to Carmel. Several visits have not dimmed my first impression that Carmel is a spot I could be com-

Alexandra Tearo Smirnoff, soprano, will be one of the soloists in Sunday afternoon's performance of Brahms' Requiem at Sunset School Auditorium.

Civic Chorus To Present Brahms' Requiem Sunday

Brahms' German Requiem, directed by Gilbert Boyer, will be presented Sunday afternoon, 3:30 o'clock, at Sunset School Auditorium by the Monterey Civic Chorus under the sponsorship of Carmel Adult School.

The 60 singers of the chorus and the musicians of the 40 piece orchestra are all local people.

Soloists are Alexandra Tearo Smirnoff, soprano, and John Farr, baritone. Mrs. Smirnoff has sung for four years with the San Francisco Opera Company, also with the Columbia Opera Company of Los Angeles and in opera at Stanford under the direction of Jan Popper. Equally at home in both lieder and opera, she has had many appearances in concert, oratorio, opera, and on television and radio. She was born in Esthonia and received her first musical training in Harbin, Manchuria, while attending the Russian School of Commerce there. Later, coming to the United States, she studied with Maria Kurenko of New York and Madame Johanna Kristoffsky and Nino Cornel of San Francisco. Mrs. Smirnoff is the wife of Alex Smirnoff, and both are instructors with the Russian Department of the Army Language School at the Presidio of Monterey.

John Farr, the baritone soloist, is a graduate of College of the Pacific in Public School Music and Voice. He did graduate work and summer school work with Lillian Buckstrand Wilson at the University of Southern California. He started conducting church choirs

Six Carmel High students will be in the honor orchestra of 95 players. Polly Popoff from Carmel is to be concert mistress, chosen to have first chair in the first violin section after area tryouts.

Orchestra members making the trip to play in Saturday's concert are Jaime Colome, Patsy Leonard, Vivian Davis, Luraine Dearing, John Stiles and concertmistress Polly Popoff.

Kite Festival Date March 30, To Be Wide World Event

Kites will fly in Carmel on March 30, date of the annual Kite Festival on the High School playfield. Ernest Calley, former Sunset School shop teacher is coming from retirement in Palo Colorado Canyon to help run the event and Wide, Wide World Television program photographers will be here to record the Festival for a nationwide telecast, according to William Wakefield, Carmel's recreation director. The Carmel Lions Club will present prizes to winning contestants in each class.

Co. Planning Board Acts On Freeway, Shopping Centers

At its meeting Tuesday afternoon the Monterey County Planning Commission approved the state highway department freeway route from the junction of Carmel Valley road with Highway No. 1 to the Carmel River Bridge. This route follows the present Highway No. 1 right-of-way.

The Carmel Properties Company, which has opposed the route, fearing it would cut off access to their proposed shopping center, withdrew objections when it was seen that access would be provided across the highway from Rio Road.

A plan for commercial development on the east of Highway No. 1 between Carmel Valley Road and Carmel River, which had been worked out by the technical staff of the county commission, was approved in general, details to be agreed upon between the applicants for commercial zoning (Carmel Properties Company and Philip Hatton). Area to be allocated for the two shopping centers was pared down to a total of 24 acres, based on a market survey by that technical staff; also, the staff recommended and the commission concurred that the Hatton and Carmel Properties interests should arrange so that their commercial developments be contiguous.

Steve Patterson's application for a use permit to build a restaurant on the west side of Coast Highway No. 1 at Garrapata Creek was denied.

Application of William Hudson and Charles Fuller for zoning their

Concert Assn. To Present MP Civic Ballet

The premier performances of the Monterey Peninsula Civic Ballet Company will be presented by the Monterey Concert Association, February 20 and February 21 at 8:15 o'clock in the evening and February 22, 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon at the Pacific Grove High School auditorium.

All participants, dancers, choreographers, and designers are residents of Monterey County and represent backgrounds of experience in motion pictures, television and professional ballet and concert groups. They are under the direction of Dorothy Dean.

Miss Dean has planned a program of four ballets, three of these are by Choreographer Vonn Hamilton. They are Rossini Variations, music by Rossini; Capricci Espagnols

Each spring for over thirty years, with three exceptions, children and adults in Carmel have made kites and on the chosen Saturday afternoon flown them in the Festival with varying success. The Festival was started by the late Reverend Willis White. For many years after he was unable to take part in the kite-flying, because of ill health, participants paraded past his home on Camino Real led by the fire truck filled with excited young kite flyers. Cars carrying other kite-flyers followed the fire truck in a procession several blocks long, horns tooting all the way to the Festival location.

Originally the contest was held on Hatton Fields Mesa, then after the area was built up, moved to the High School playfield.

All kites must be made by those entering the different classes, and all kites must be airborne to win a prize no matter how original or beautiful the design. Adults as well as small children are eligible to enter the event. Materials for constructing the kites may be obtained at the Sunset School shop which is also open for contestants to receive advice in making their kites. Dates when the shop is available will be announced later, says Wakefield.

High School Girls Instead Of Mothers To March For Dimes

Carmel teenage girls will call at every house in the community on Saturday morning from 11:00-12:00 o'clock collecting for the March of Dimes. This Teens Against Polio collection takes the place of the Mothers' March being held in other peninsula communities on Thursday evening.

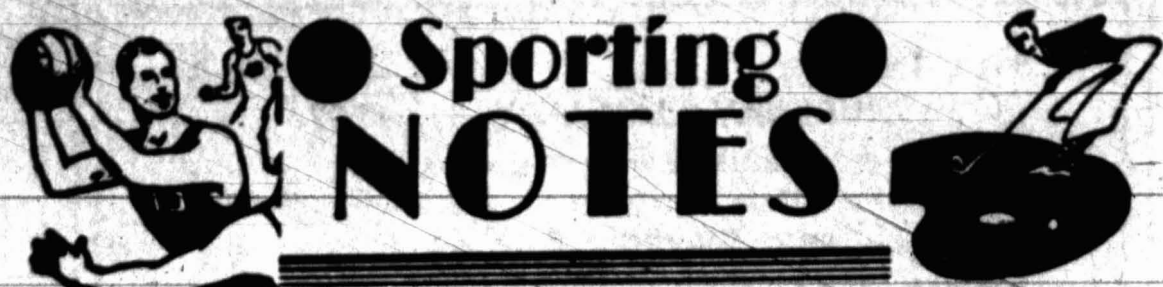

Carmel high school girls, eager to help the March of Dimes, volunteered to do the house to house canvassing for their mothers, according to Mrs. Ashley, Carmel chairman for the March of Dimes fund drive.

The Teens' March for Polio is being held Saturday morning instead of Thursday night so the girls may visit each house in the day-light and also not take time from study period on a school evening.

350 DOCTORS MEET HERE

Meetings of the American Federation for Clinical Research, the Western Society for Clinical Research and the Western Association of Physicians are running concurrently in Carmel this week at La Playa Hotel and the Golden Bough Theatre. Three hundred and fifty physicians are here as delegates from the Western States.

GONZALES SPARTANS AT CARMEL FRIDAY NIGHT

Remembering that it was Carmel who knocked them out of a chance for the league title last season, the Gonzales Spartans invade the Carmel pavilion Friday night for a pair of league games with the floundering Padres. This will be the second meeting between the Padres and Spartans this season, the Spartans having clipped Carmel in an early-season double-header at Gonzales. Gonzales has made a surprisingly good showing in league play this season, whipping some of the good ones and nearly upsetting league-leading Gilroy in their last outing. Led by a 6-4 center, Larry Westcott, the Spartans have a speedy team which leans to a pressing defense and a quick-running attack. The last varsity tilt was a toss-up game with the issue in doubt until the final whistle. Carmel was in front most of the way but the scrappy Spartans came with a rush in the last three minutes to pull ahead for the victory. The Padres will employ the platoon system in Friday night's clash with Gonzales, opening with a starting five of Clyde Klaumann, Bill Hicks, Bob Durbrow, Charley Dawson, and Bill Wallace, but substituting in the second quarter with Fred Bruggeman, Jim Bannerman, Art Wilkerson, Dale Dawson, and Don Smith.

In a 7 o'clock preliminary game, Claire Burns' potent Gonzales lightweights engage the fast-improving Carmel Padrecitos in a game which could steal the spotlight from the varsity fray. The Gonzales lightweights are a solid contender for the limited crown and need this win to keep pace with the Live Oak lights. Coach Buzz Rainer's lightweights remember the pasting they received from Gonzales in the first meeting this season and would like nothing better than to upset the ambitious Spartan Babes. Coach Buzz will go with a starting five of Jack Faia and Walt Helm, forwards, Jamie Holman, center, Jim Lee and Pete Willcox, guards.

A 5:30 game will match the varsity reserve squads of the two schools. Both reserve teams hold wins over the Pacific Grove reserves so Friday night's clash should be an even-up battle.

STEPHEN JOHNSON BICYCLE CHAMP

Over 150 Carmel youngsters participated in the Bicycle Safety Rodeo held at Sunset Field last Saturday afternoon and when the wheels had turned for the afternoon Stephen Johnston, a Sunset School 7th-grader, was adjudged the top cyclist in the Village. Showing exceptional skill in the achievement tests, Stephen also presented a near-perfect bicycle to the judges and posted a solid 100 in his written test. Stephen received serious competition from Donald Geisen, Teddy Leidig, Walter Weise, and Grant Pollock who finished in the order listed, but the fancy-wheeling seventh-grader paraded to a convincing win.

In the Slow Race, Teddy Leidig, the pride of the eighth grade, copped first prize. Walter Weise was the top slow rider in the 5th and 6th grade division while Cheryl Oas won the blue ribbon in the fourth grade class.

Besides the fun of competing in the Rodeo events, youngsters participating in the bike festival had a chance to have their bicycles checked by experts from Chief Klaumann's police department and were issued licenses by the efficient CPD.

SUNSET HOOP SQUAD UNDEFEATED

After three weeks play in the Saturday morning basketball league, Art Holman's 8th grade team is still undefeated and is breezing along on top of the Peninsula League. A look at this elementary school team is very deceiving as a casual observer would take it to be a high school varsity squad. Three of the first liners tower around the six-foot mark and tip the beams around 170 pounds. Skyscrapers on the team are Chris and John Wilkin, a pair of strong rebounding forwards, and Stephen Gray, lanky center. A pair of watch charm guards, Mike Draper

PADRES DROP PAIR AT PACIFIC GROVE

Carmel High's basketball squads journeyed over the hill to Pacific Grove for three basketball games last Friday night and when the shooting was finished the score-board showed the Breakers winning two of the three games. The Padres salvaged the varsity reserve game, 50 to 33, but were jolted, 39 to 33, in the varsity tilt and finished the short end of a 41-40 lightweight thriller.

One of the best games of the current season unfolded during the lightweight clash as both teams battled right down to the wire before the issue was decided. The Little Padres had a 40-39 edge with less than a minute to play and were in the process of stalling out the remaining time when the Breakers captured a rebound and moved through the Carmel lads for the winning basket. Coach Rainer's Padrecitos played their best game of the season in this one and same within a whisker of upsetting the favored Wavelets. With Pete Willcox and Jack Faia showing the way, the Little Padres put on a good shooting display and threw up a hustling zone defense against Charley Howell's classy quintet. Faia was top scorer for the Padrecitos, clipping the net for 16 markers. A fine job of rebounding by Jamie Holman gave Carmel an even break on the backboards for the first time this season.

Carmel's varsity gave the PG heavies a battle all the way but ran into passing difficulties in the final quarter to see the hosts pull away for a six-point victory. Ahead at the half, 15 to 14, the Padres appeared headed for their second league win when the roof caved in early in the final period. A series of bad passes set up the Breakers for easy scores and the tense Padres blew several easy lay-ins to make things easy for the red and gold Breakers. PG's Neil Orchard and Carmel's Charley Dawson both hit for 11 points to lead the scorers.

Art Wilkerson and Phil Durbrow led the Carmel reserves to a convincing win over the Pacific Grove junior-varsity as the Carmel pressing defense proved too tough for the hosts. This game was close during the first half but the Carmel lads went on a shoot-spree in the third quarter and pulled into a commanding lead. Claude Friscovich, a transfer student from Sunnyvale's Freemont High School, donned the Padre spangles for the first time and showed that he knew his way around the basketball court.

Water is cheaper than Dirt

Good safe water delivered at your home is literally cheaper than dirt. A ton of water (240 gallons) costs less than 15 cents. A ton of dirt dumped in your yard would cost many times 15 cents just for trucking alone.

This low cost of water is really remarkable when you consider that it includes collection, storage, purification, delivery, and a vast amount of engineering "know how."

Variety And Charm In New Lanz Frocks At Pine Inn Show

Last Friday, before a capacity audience, Lanz presented the first of a monthly series of fashion shows in the Garden Restaurant of the Pine Inn. The Ocean Avenue shop, one of eight Lanz shops in the west, displayed its spring fashions informally, with five models circulating among luncheon tables, pausing briefly at each, and describing the costume being worn to Garden Restaurant luncheon guests.

New silhouettes, advance-season colors, and unusual fabrics characterized the Lanz models. Satin finish cottons, cotton matelasse, pure silks, peau de soie, pure silk chiffon, cotton and wool and cotton and silk blends were among the high-style fashion fabrics shown.

The bell-bottom "harem" skirt, the Dutch Boy look, and the high-waisted Empire line were among the silhouettes stressed by Lanz in both day and after-dark costumes. Violet, the palest of delicate pastel hues of the color, was shown in two-piece casuals, in skirts, sweaters, in daytime tweeds and in cocktail and party pure silks and chiffons.

Elaine Lynn, Fashion Coordinator for Lanz, came from southern California for the fashion show. Miss Lynn talked to Pine Inn luncheon guests and offered special information on the Lanz models displayed.

Among the outstanding Lanz models shown last Friday were a peau de soie cocktail or party dress in a new shade of bottle or Victorian green; a solid black, pure silk sheath, dramatized with a vivid lipstick red wool fleece cape-stole; a black velvet party dress with all-over embroidery embellishing the velvet, and a violet silk chiffon evening dress with lilac linen tucked top.

An interesting sidelight on the Lanz models was illustrated by identical day frocks in fleur de lis pattern on imported cotton. In navy blue and white the dress suggested morning or afternoon wear; the identical frock in beige gained a gala party or cocktail personality because of the lighter color. Fabrics, such as cottons, customarily considered informal, in the

Caroline Pickit

Mrs. Caroline Adeline Pickit, founder and owner of Peter Pan Lodge at Carmel Highlands, died on Friday of a heart attack. She had been under a doctor's care, because of a heart condition for several years. On Friday morning Mrs. Pickit apparently suffered a fatal attack while taking a bath and was found later by Mrs. Lyle Burke, employee at the Lodge.

Mrs. Pickit was born in Carson City, Nevada. At the end of World War I she was sent by the Red Cross to Siberia to help Czechoslovakian soldiers who had surrendered to the Russians to keep their country from Austrian domination and were trapped in Russia by peace and the revolution. Mrs. Pickit was almost captured, herself, in Warsaw by the Bolsheviks. She returned to San Francisco in 1922 and remained with the Red Cross until 1925 when she came to Carmel.

At first she was clerk at Highlands Inn then later, with Margaret Skahen, founded Peter Pan Lodge in a residence at Carmel Highlands. Accommodations were only for six or eight guests but Peter Pan Lodge's hospitality became famous and eventually Mrs. Pickit and her partner built the present Lodge on the south edge of Wildcat Creek overhanging the canyon with magnificent views of Point Lobos and the ocean.

Here Mrs. Pickit entertained her guests with gracious hospitality and thoughtful care. Her cheerful manner helped many who came to the Lodge to recover from illness. Her interest in all people coupled with an alert mind made Peter Pan Lodge the gathering place of persons of keen intellect as well as those who appreciated the generous attention given to each guest by their hostess.

Mrs. Pickit maintained a live interest in community affairs and served on the board of the Carmel Music Society until poor health forced her to resign.

Survivors are two sisters, Mrs. Florence Titus of Truckee and Mrs. Elsie C. Hirst of San Rafael, as well as several nieces and nephews and great nieces and nephews.

Private funeral services were held on Saturday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea Crematorium with inurnment to be in Lone Mountain Cemetery, Carson City, Nevada.

Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Hands of Lanz designers, also displayed great elegance and chic.

A second Lanz fashion show is planned for late February on a date to be announced later.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MA 4-3881.

"How old am I?"

—asks Mrs. Dolores McHugh,
1555 31st Avenue, San Francisco, California
How wonderful to have a grandmother! Especially the modern kind—they're such good fun. And have you noticed how much younger they look (and feel) these days? One good reason is modern household appliances. They "take over" the heavy chores that used to rob women of their youth and beauty.

Take Mrs. McHugh who has four grandchildren. She leaves most of her hard work to labor-saving appliances. She's 51, by the way.

Here's the beauty of it: With P. G. and E.'s low rates for gas and electricity you can run a houseful of appliances all day for half the price of most hair sprays!

Susan Porter's Irish Myths Again Available On LP

Stories from Irish Mythology as told by Susan Porter is now available in a second pressing. The first long play phonograph record was bought out quickly by those wishing a permanent record of Mrs. Porter telling Irish myths in her deep melodious voice with a power to carry listeners back to the days of the great Cuhulain.

Mrs. Porter, now living at Big Sur, made her home in Carmel for many years. She became interested in Irish mythology as a young girl. Years of studying the myths, made the ancient heroes of Ireland come to life for her. She began telling the myths to her friends and daughter Valentine. So charmed and enthralled were her audiences that Susan Porter was asked again and again to repeat the tales. Her fame spread and she was asked to tell the myths to schools, colleges and auditorium audiences.

Finally a recording was made of Mrs. Porter bringing to life the fancied Irish world of centuries

OLAF M. FRODSHAM

On Wednesday, February 6, at 8:00 o'clock, the Occidental College Choir will present a concert in the Carmel Presbyterian Church. On this first visit of the choir to Northern California, the choir will sing a variety of sacred numbers from ancient plainchant to the folk hymns of the South with featured soloists. The public is invited to attend this concert.

The director, Olaf M. Frodsham, Associate Professor of Music, shown above, has gained a wide reputation in Southern California Vocal and Choral Music Associations as both choral director and music educator. In addition to his work at Occidental, where he has been teaching since 1950, Professor Frodsham is director of the Men's Glee Club at the California Institute of Technology.

He is a graduate of the University of Redlands, did graduate work at Columbia University in New York, and has been a pupil of the late W. B. Olds, Howard Swan, Harry Robert Wilson of New York, and Dom de Roquette of Solennes.

The Occidental Choir is composed of 45 voices with over 125 students competing annually for vacancies.

Town House Student Exhibit

Instead of the usual one-man show of paintings at the Carmel Foundation Town House, the February exhibitions will be a group of the art students who are working under the supervision of Miss Donna Davis. Two rooms will be devoted to the work actually done in the studio as students under Miss Davis. The other rooms will feature other paintings done by the same artists. The show will open February 5, and will continue showing until the end of the month.

On Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, the program will be a reading of A Narrow Escape, an early American story, read by Agnes Trumbly. Tea will follow. The Carmel Foundation announces.

Millar Gives First Performance Of Hindemith Concerto

By Mary Lindsay-Oliver

Having accepted an invitation from Gregory Millar, our own conductor of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra, to hear him conduct the Little Symphony of San Francisco last Wednesday, I believe that some account of the concert will be interesting to local readers. Given in the Veterans' Auditorium, the program was notable for the first San Francisco performances of two Ives compositions and a world premiere of Paul Hindemith's Concerto for Trumpet and Bassoon in which Edward Haug and Raymond Ojeda were soloists.

The Hindemith work, a very recent one which no library in California yet possesses, was a striking contrast to the Beethoven Overture "For the Consecration of the House" which was given its full dramatic character. Hindemith's contrapuntal mixtures and polytonality were rampantly present in the concerto, which gave the impression of a crazy dialogue, though what about would be hard to guess! Possibly further hearings of it might illumine? In some remarks before the performance Mr. Millar anticipated that many of the audience might not care for it, but his initiative in presenting the world premiere is to be highly commended.

Tone Roads and The Unanswered Question by that remarkable and many-sided individual Charles Ives were both interesting compositions, warmly received, followed by Nikos Skalkottas' Five Greek Dances in exotic harmonies and rhythms founded largely on the Folk music of Greece. The Beethoven Concerto, which filled the second half of the program, had the popular David Abel as soloist. He gave a performance with deeper emotion, and even more brilliantly than when he played with the Monterey County Symphony. With Mr. Millar and the Orchestra, he was enthusiastically recalled many times.

It was a notable program, adding to the accomplishments of our Monterey County Symphony conductor, and the Little Symphony.

SIERRA CLUB PLANS LOCAL CLIMB

Local members of the Sierra Club are reminded that the first hike of the new quarter, sponsored by the Loma Prieta Chapter, will be made Sunday to Mt. Manuel. The climbers will meet the leader, Fremont Ballou of Carmel in front of the Carmel High School at 9:00 o'clock in the morning and drive to Big Sur Lodge, where the walk will start. As the four-mile trail to the 3369 foot summit is rather brushy in one place, stout clothing is advisable, and lunch and canteen should be brought. In event of rain, the group will visit points of interest on the Monterey Peninsula.

All persons interested in the aims of the club are welcome to join these weekly trips sponsored by the various chapters. The club maintains an office and library at 1050 Mills Tower, San Francisco 4, Calif., and eleven chapters, nine in California and the other two in the northwest and eastern United States, with a combined membership of over ten thousand.

The purposes of the Sierra Club are to explore, enjoy and preserve

New Play Opens This Weekend At Players Circle

Fresh from a busman's holiday directing Disraeli at the the First Theatre, Charles Thomas, staff director of the Golden Bough Circle, will present the Circle's new play, His and Hers, opening tomorrow evening and continuing through Saturday and Sunday evening performances, for a six weeks run.

His and Hers, by Fay and Michael Kanin, is a brisk yet warm comedy of theatre business on Broadway, unfolding the clash of interests between love and material success.

In line with its policy of encouraging fresh talent, the Golden Bough's new play has a cast almost equally divided between newcomers and familiar faces.

The two leading roles are played by Walter Williams and Gertrude Chappell, who have played opposite each other in previous Circle performances. Others in the cast well known to Golden Bough audiences include Arnold Bowhay, Betty Fowlston, Peg Minor, Tom May Jr. and Gracie Brueck.

Fresh talent is represented by Alex Olivetti, long a featured player at the First Theatre, making his first appearance in the Round. Ralph Broman is the alternate for this part. Rick Beck-Meyer, another Circle newcomer, has previously appeared in Forest Theatre and Wharf productions. Kuhlman Fluehr, also with a Wharf Theatre background, is another addition to the Golden Bough Players, while Charles "Chuck" Scardina is a veteran of the First Theatre. The cast is completed with Jane Rowan and John Lubomirski, the latter making his first appearance.

Production staff includes Gracie Brueck and Chuck Scardina, stage managers; Kit Jones, lights; Joan McKinney, properties; and Henry Hairstylist, hairstyling.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

We saw a really good article on The Power of a Book in the January issue of the Wilson Bulletin, which is a magazine for librarians and never sees the light of the reading room because we take it for us. The thing was written by Dr. John Bruere of Cleveland, Ohio, and he says:

"Here in Cleveland, on the mayor's committee on juvenile delinquency, we spent a year studying the influences in the community that get young people off on the wrong track . . . One of the most important, in the minds of many who are familiar with the problem, is the sort of stuff that young people read today — comic books of lust and violence, and cheap editions of the cheapest fiction ever to come from the printing press.

"But it isn't only what young people read, it is what they don't read. They don't read the great books. There is violence and murder and lust in Shakespeare and Homer, and in the Bible, but always restrained to proportion and counterbalanced by their opposites . . . Read any of the books that men have called great, generation after generation, and you will be a better person for having read them. You will have had your eyes made more keen, your mind more alert, your heart more understanding.

"Clifton Fadiman recently made his own list of the ten books he believes will be universally alive five hundred or a thousand years from now:

The plays of William Shakespeare; Robinson Crusoe; Moby Dick; Alice in Wonderland; Gulliver's Travels; Huckleberry Finn; Little Women; Treasure Island; some novels of Charles Dickens, probably David Copperfield; The Mother Goose Rhymes.

"He points out that with the exception of Shakespeare and Moby Dick, all of these books can be enjoyed by youngsters. If you have children, keep that list in mind.

"If you are above thirty, I wonder whether you realize what a different sort of mind you would have today if you had read when you were a youngster only what youngsters are reading today. You didn't read just the trash from the corner drugstore*. You probably had a library card and once in a while took out a good book to read over the week end . . . A good book was like a gold mine. You dug in and got out some of the gold and had an exciting time doing it.

"It is a great experience to come to feel at home in the public library." End quotes!

This week we have 16 new books, including a copy of My Fair Lady, which you may read without waiting for tickets. Patrick Campbell has a collection of short humorous pieces entitled A Short Trot with a Cultured Mind. This book is illustrated by Hilary Knight who is the artist who did such an enchanting job with the pictures for Eloise.

Mika Waltari's new novel is called The Etruscan, and is now ready for circulation. There is also a story of early California, with scenes around Salinas and Monterey. It was written by Charles Neider and is called The Authentic Death of Hendry Jones. Yes, it's Hendry. There are a lot more, but we quoted so long we have no more time to talk about them. Come in and look them over.

Together with our many other microwave and cable routes, the new coaxial cable gives communities all over the Pacific West another important link with one another. And it helps us keep pace with your ever-growing desire for fast, efficient telephone service.

YOUR NEW TELEPHONE BUILDING opened Monday the 28th of this month at 8:30 a.m. This building is now located at 404 Franklin, Monterey, across the street from the building you are so familiar with. The new building has many features that will enable us to give more efficient service to each one of our more than 22,000 subscribers. The public office, the one you see most often, contains a "customers room" which may be used for making a series of telephone calls by customers or demonstrating the latest telephone equipment available to you.

Other features, although not immediately visible to you, are special training rooms, a sales office, accounting room, mail and typing room, a new type of electronic brain teletype writer which sends all orders to the plant department. All of this is part of a plan to bring better service to you.

Conservation On The March

A Weekly Column by
C. Edward Graves
Western Representative,
National Parks Association

BRUCE'S EDDY DAM

Last summer while touring the Pacific Northwest on a study of various conservation problems, I spent three days with headquarters at Lewiston, Idaho, investigating the proposed Bruce's Eddy and Penny Cliffs dams on the Clearwater River. My first day was spent on the North Fork, site of the Bruce's Eddy dam; my second day on the Middle Fork which would be inundated by the Penny Cliffs dam; and my third day was taken up with an inspection of the country from the air.

These two dams were originally "unveiled" at a public hearing conducted by the Army Engineers at Orofino, Idaho, in 1953, a hearing that the Idaho Wildlife Federation, strenuous opponent of the dams, described as a farce. Since then the Penny Cliffs dam has been dropped at least temporarily, and the controversy has been narrowed to the Bruce's Eddy dam. A Congressional hearing will be held very soon.

Bruce's Eddy is likely to become a rallying point for conservationists during the present session of Congress. In its own field it may become a second Echo Park dam. There is in it no question of the invasion of a national park, which gave the Echo Park controversy so much national publicity, but there are other important considerations that are causing conservationists to rally their forces in opposing what they consider to be an extremely harmful project.

Briefly, here are the issues. The dam is to be 576 feet high and will back the water up the North Fork of the Clearwater about 50 miles. The annual fluctuation will be 143 feet. It is supposed to cost $125 million, but it is a well-known fact that most Army Engineers dams finally cost several times the original estimate. Its purpose is stated to be for power and flood control. No irrigation benefits are involved.

Members of a Committee to Save the Clearwater claim that it will have the effect of destroying the winter range of Idaho's largest elk herd and that it will exterminate all migratory fish in the North Fork. Since this is one of the best remaining spawning grounds in the country for salmon and steelhead, it is of vital concern to sportsmen everywhere.

As for flood control, there have only been two major floods in the last 60 years, one in 1933 and one in 1948. The damage done was very small compared with the cost of the dam. Moreover much of the floodwater came from another branch of the Clearwater.

As for power, there are other possible dam sites and anyway steam-generated power will soon be available in this region in large quantities. Members of the Committee flatly assert that power is not of primary concern to the dam proponents but that a huge logging pond for Potlatch Forests, Inc., Idaho's mammoth timber combine, is the real motive.

Speaking for my self, and I think any conservationist who has visited the Clearwater country will agree with me, I should consider it a tragedy of the first magnitude, if this beautiful river valley were to be drowned by a needless dam. We have altogether too few scenic jewels of this kind left in the United States and conservationists everywhere should join forces to save them from commercialization.

Henry Back To Richmond

Henry Williams returns to Richmond, Virginia, next week after vacationing in Carmel with his wife Mona and daughter Lacy since before Christmas. A telegram received by Henry this week informed him that on his return to Richmond he is to take charge of the head office of the Christian Children's Fund, Inc., for two or three months while Dr. and Mrs. J. Calvitt Clarke travel to Japan. Dr. Clarke is founder and international director of the C.C.F., a philanthropic organization maintaining orphanages in many countries around the world.

The Clarkes are going to Japan to open the Bot Memorial Orphanage for 800 children near Tokyo. Emperor Hirohito will attend the dedication ceremonies for the orphanage and also grant an audience to the Clarkes.

The new orphanage follows the cottage plan of C.C.F. orphanages in other countries. Fifteen or sixteen children live as near as possible family life with a house-mother in each cottage, and are given vocational training to fit them to earn a living. Ages of the children range from a few months to seventeen years old.

Gail, Diane In Australia

Gail and Diane Fraties are living in Melbourne, Australia, where Gail is representing the Great Northern Insurance Company. They are settled in a flat in the suburb of Elwood for six months and then hope to find a house.

Gail is amused at taking a "tram" and "train out of an English movie" to work each morning. Diane finds the shopkeepers have difficulty understanding her American speech terms and she has the same trouble understanding the Australians.

"We are both learning new expressions, though," she writes, "and we find the Australian accent pleasing."

Their first purchase for their new home is a gaily feathered cockatoo of a type reputed to be a "good talker". They like the tree-lined streets of Melbourne and enjoy swimming on the beaches "where the water is colder than in Sydney but therefore free of sharks."

Both Gail and Diane graduated from Carmel schools. Gail continued his education at Stanford and the Thunderbird School of International Trade in Arizona before taking the Great Northern Insurance Company's training program. He is the son of former Police Chief Roy Fraties and Mrs. Fraties and Diane is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Lewis of Carmel.

Daniel left Stanford a year and a half ago to join the Naval cadet training program and is now a jet pilot commissioned as an ensign. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip S. Willard of Sacramento.

He thought his parents might worry if they knew he was flying the Pacific so he surprised them by arriving unannounced.

CHALLENGE TO A DICTATOR

*Shadow the sun!
Render the moon indistinct!
Burn the earth!
The Power beyond your power
Will mold another.
Motion is not in the bird's wing —
Capture it, if you can!
When you crumple
As the dove you killed,
Another will rise . . .
And you?*

—VERNA BUTLER FASSIO

CHILDHOOD HOME

*The old gabled house on a little green hill
Cobble-stone paths and a lone whip—poor—will,
Bright ruffled curtains, hum of the bees
Gyp, the pet dog, sleeping under the trees.
How I dream of that house, its attic and stairs
Of cinnamon cookies and pickled pears.*

*Meadows, rail fences, the crib filled with corn
The old brindle cow with a calf newly born.
Full berry bushes, and the song of a thrush
The first smell of apples, the sweet Maiden Blush.
Oh, let me dream on, dream on still
Of that gabled house on a little green hill.*

—LYDIA HOWE SMITH.

NOW SPRING HAS COME AGAIN

*Blue lupins are a tidal wave
Engulfing field and hill . . .
How can my heart hold bitterness?
How can my joy be still?*

*The almonds string their coral beads
On each uplifting bough . . .
How can my eyes reject the sight
Of new-born beauty now?*

*Should I not walk with head held high,
And laughter on my lips . . .
Rejecting Grief, the flagellant,
With lashing pain for whips?*

*The crypt of love wherein you are
Is adamant to tears . . .
I leave a kiss upon the door
And turn to face the years.*

—LAURA JANET LARSON.

The coming of Karl Ulrich Schnabel, the famous son of a famous father, adds to this season an outstanding artist of the greatest pianistic powers as acclaimed everywhere and as those who heard him about two years ago at the Golden Bough will remember.

In Europe as well as Canada and South America and the United States he has earned the highest expressions from the critics.

Margaret Lial, under whose management he comes, has been fortunate in securing Schnabel for a second time as his tour is a limited one on this, his second, visit to America.

His program for February 7 at Sunset School is the one that delighted London in October and includes the Beethoven Sonata Pathétique in C minor, the Schumann Papillons op. 2, Schubert's 3 Moments Musicaux, Chopin's Grand Valse Brilliant in E flat major, the Nocturne in F sharp minor and the A flat major Polonaise. Also a little known Mozart composition of three pieces for the Orgelwalze—a mechanical instrument which was the forerunner of the music-boxes, and was ordered of Mozart by Count Deym for a famous gallery of wax figures. The Andante of these was composed seven months before the death of Mozart and later than any of his piano works, and which Schnabel has adapted to the piano.

New Antique Shop Owners, Experts In Their Field

On Saturday, February 2, Langer's Antiques, a new shop, importing fine European china, glass and art objects will open on Dolores Street near Seventh Avenue. The premises, occupied formerly by a telegraph office, have been in process of remodeling for the past six weeks.

Charles and Hella Langer (Mr. and Mrs. Charles Langer), both with many years of experience in the importing and collecting of rare china, glass and art objects, are proprietors of Carmel's new antique shop. The Langers plan to bring to Carmel Meissen china, both antique, and in the form of authentic reproductions created today in Germany in the historic Meissen factories. Other china and glass objects, imported bric a brac and small statuary will be included in the new shop's stocks.

Coming originally from Chicago, the Langers decided to make Carmel their permanent home during a visit last year. They have taken an apartment in the building above their new shop.

For over ten years Mrs. Langer owned and operated the Balaban Galleries in Chicago. She has lectured on Meissen china and is considered an authority on the subject.

Charles Langer, both as collector and as an importer of antiques engaged in extensive research on the subject. He also acted as appraiser and consultant to the U.S. Customhouse Appraiser's Office for a number of years. In his private collection of reference books on antiques are many first editions of rare works, in addition to a comprehensive selection of standard and out-of-print volumes.

Mr. and Mrs. Langer have completely remodeled the premises now given over to Langer's Antiques. Walls have been color re-styled in a rich burgundy tone; new lighting fixtures have been installed, and cabinets for the display of china and glass have been installed.

"It is our hope to bring to Carmel a shop that offers china and glass imports somewhat different from those already available here," say Hella and Charles Langer. "We believe there is need here for the rare in antiques, and we shall strive to offer objects of that quality."

Co. Planning Board Acts On Freeway, Shopping Centers

property north of Carmel Valley road and west of Hatton Canyon Freeway route for 10,000 square foot lots was opposed strenuously by the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association which insisted on one acre lot minimum. Commission directed applicants, Valley Property Owners Association representatives and county technical experts to get together to seek a compromise. This issue may be shifted from the jurisdiction of the county to the City of Carmel since Hudson and Fuller, and the Carmel Properties Association, filed a petition Tuesday with the county boundaries commission for annexation to Carmel. The decision of whether or not to annex now lies with Carmel.

Commission denied application for a use permit to build a large motel-restaurant between Agujito Road and Highway No. 1 on the north side of Carmel Hill.

Rosary was recited on January 24. High Requiem Mass was celebrated in St. John's Cathedral, Fresno, on January 25. Burial took place in Holy Cross Cemetery.

Editor's Column

pletely happy in. In my early writing days, I spent several years in Greenwich Village in New York (during the last war), and loved it. I got the same feeling in Carmel, only more so, with all the charms of the West to enhance it.

Well, after all, I just started out to send you one dollar and fifty cents, didn't I?

Sincerely yours,
M. S.

P.S. By the way, do you know where I could find a map of the city of Carmel? I plan to come up and reconnoiter in March and a chart would be helpful, since the lack of street signs baffles as well as enchants me. M.S.

P.S.2 How is your TV reception there? I don't care, but my son does. M.S.
